Dear Alistair

Thanks for your fax of 30/7/93 Inquiring as to the status of IRR in Australia.

We have been manufacturing and marketing Instant Road Repair product (IRR) for close on 10 years in Australia with great success.

The product is used under widely varying climatic and geographic conditions here, ranging from the tropics in Cairns and Darwin to colder mountainous regions in Tasmania and the higher parts of the Snowy Mountains in south east Australia.

The product performs equally well under conditions of snow and ice and tropical conditions with pavement temperatures around 60°C.

It is used on airports, freeways, highways, hard standing areas, parking lots, etc. etc.

The product is made to meet its own special specification and this complies with varying specifications in each State. We do not have a national specification for cold patching materials.

Many of the larger companies in the hot mix industry have tried to copy the product, with no success.

Regards,
